Art Unit: 3764

DETAILED ACTION

1. Claimss 1-10,22-25 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 10-11-06.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 11,15,17,20-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by McBride.

McBride discloses an arm motion assembly for an exercise device having a pivotal first (unlabeled) link between connector link 70 and foot link attachment 32 ; a second pivotal link 60-62 having handgrips 63, being connected at a second juncture 82.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 14 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over McBride in view of Eschenbach (894).

Eschenbach discloses the use of adjustable juncture points for adjusting pivoting links , as shown in figure 3.

In view of this teaching, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to provide the McBride links with adjustable junctures for accommodating different sized users of the device.

Claim 18 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over McBride in view of Chang.

The use of telescoping tubes for adjusting the length of handlebars is well recognized in the art, as exemplified by the Chang adjustable handlebars and would have been obvious to one skilled in the art for accommodating different sized users.

Claim 19 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over McBride in view of Stevens.

Stevens teaches the use of a handgrip 52-61 which is pivotal with respect to a second link 51. In view of this teaching, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to modify the McBride second link by providing a hinged pivot thereon for introducing a pivoting of the handgrips for allowing greater freedom the user's arms during exercise arm articulation.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

6. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

Art Unit: 3764

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

7. Claim 26 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as based on a disclosure which is not enabling. The structure necessary for providing the lateral movement of the user's hands , critical or essential to the practice of the invention, but not included in the claim(s) is not enabled by the disclosure. See In re Mayhew, 527 F.2d 1229, 188 USPQ 356 (CCPA 1976).

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claims 12,13 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
